WORKSHOP TAKES TO AIR

Approximately 45 members of the Education Workshop flew to Modesto and back last Monday afternoon aboard two WAA DC 3's. The trips were taken to emphasize the project, "Education in the Air Age." Hugh C. Baker, summer session director, and Dr. Francis L. Drag, workshop director, drove to Modesto and met the Workshop teachers and students at the airport from which the entire group made a tour of a frozen foods plant.

Baker and Drag visited the off-campus summer session at Modesto which is sponsored by San Francisco State College under the direction of Mr. William Cowan of the college faculty.

DANCE IN GYM TOMORROW

Second dance of the session will be given tomorrow noon in the gym. It will be sponsored by the social recreation class, (Rec. s8) which presented the previous dance and the progressive games party last Friday. Called the "Farewell Dance", it is intended to climax the informal summer session activities.

'CHONITA' PRESENTED NEXT WEDNESDAY

Frenz Liszt's operetta, "Chonita" will be presented next Wednesday night at 8:15 by the Music Workshop at Everett Junior High School, 17th and Sanchez Streets.

Under the direction of Harold Hollingsworth, music faculty member, the show is completely arranged by students of the Music Workshop at John Muir School. Stage and technical direction is by Miss Ruth Sittion of the Creative Arts Division of the college. The orchestra is conducted by Martin Piel.

ONE-ACTS REVIEWED

Jay Coulter of College Theatre has given the POST an extensive and penetrating review of the three one-act plays presented by Alpha Psi Omega last Friday and Saturday nights which, however, it is impossible to print because of space requirements. Coulter generally praises the work of the casts of all three plays with special attention given Ruth Sittion, Mary Evelyn Cruse, Bernard Goulumb, Shirlee Graubart Felzer, Marjorie Haas, Dorothy Woodward, and Mary Gallivan.

Miss Gallivan, says Coulter, pinch hit in two different parts Saturday night and turned in a very capable performance in each. This was her first try at dramatics, he says, and he is quite enthusiastic about her future in college drama.

Coulter praises the plays as a whole (which were written by Ed Reynolds), but he remarks that better direction of "Outrageously Outrageous" would have made better use of both the vehicle and the fine performance of the cast. He recommends that "Dark Afternoon" be retained as a radio script, for which it was originally written.

The POST wishes to congratulate all who took part in the undertaking which was a difficult and time-consuming task.

'ART IN ACTION' AT FREDERIC BURK

"Art in Action," an exhibit of 2-

the work of students in the "Art in the Integrated Program" study of the Education Workshop is on display in the halls of Frederic Burke School. In charge of the exhibit is Miss Yvonne Whitehurst.

BAND PLAYS AT GYM TUESDAY

Summer Session Band will hold its concert at the gymnasium next Tuesday from 12:15 to 1. Change in scheduling of place is due to lack of facilities out of doors where it was originally scheduled.

STUDENT EXHIBIT BRINGS PRAISE

Exhibit of work of Mr. William Hyde Irwin's Art s30-130 class in the Activities Room has resulted not only in praise for the works but also in the sale of some of the paintings. The projects range from abstract to realistic and emphasize spatial construction on which Mr. Irwin is concentrating this summer. Spatial construction involves methods of presenting depth.

STUDIO 'ON DISPLAY' WEDNESDAY

The Radio Studio, Annex B 6, will hold open house next Wednesday from 9-5. There will be exhibits of network and local broadcasting, display of modern electronic equipment. All visitors may make a recording of their voices and receive a copy of the record.

PURSEL LEAVES AS TRAINING OFFICER

Frank Pursel, veterans' training officer for the past year and a half at the college, leaves today. High members of the administration and faculty and countless students have praised his work and have expressed disappointment that he is leaving. He will be succeeded by Mr. Jack Mingel. Pursel has received the thanks of many veterans for his continued efforts to cut "red tape" and aid student veterans at the college.

VETERANS MUST CHECK WITH MINGEL

Veterans planning to attend Post Session must report to the VA training officer, Rm 119 C, as soon as possible. Veterans who signed up for Post Session and who are not attending must also see Mr. Jack Mingel to file interruption notices.

PACKAGE WRAPPING DEMONSTRATION

The package wrapping demonstration by Mrs. Josephine Righetti has been cancelled at the college, but Miss Ward announced that Mrs. Righetti may be seen daily in the auditorium of the Emporium. Mrs. Righetti will teach flower arrangement at the Post Session.

PROFESSIONAL FRATERNITY PLANS DINNER AND SOCIAL MEETING

All members of Delta Kappa Gamma, professional women teacher's fraternity, attending summer session are invited to a meeting and social next Thursday at 6 p.m. at the Women's City Club, 465 Post St. according to Mrs. Viola Happy, president of the San Francisco chapter, Alpha Theta.

Miss Neva Hagaman, primary supervisor of Long Beach schools and currently teaching in the Education Workshop, will be the guest of honor. Members of the fraternity interested should sign up on the bulletin board of Frederic Burk school or see Mrs. Happy.

CORNEHLSSENS HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Dr. and Mrs. John Cornehlssen held open house last Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 for students of Dr. Cornehlssen's two classes, Personnel Administration and Counseling and Guidance. More than 50 students attended.

This afternoon Dr. Cornehlssen's Personnel Administration class will have lunch at and make a tour of the Emporium.

POST SESSION REGISTRATION SET FOR MONDAY, AUGUST 11

Registration for Post Session will take place on one day only, Monday, August 11, it was announced this week by Hugh C. Baker. Classes will also be held that day and will be of one hour and 25 minutes duration, six days a week. The time actually spent in the classroom during the three week session for each course will equal the time spent in a two-unit course during a regular session.

NEW CLASS ANNOUNCED FOR FALL

It was bound to come! Student newlyweds can now juggle books and pots simultaneously! They can learn to cook while attending college, for beginning this fall a new course, Cooking for the Small Family, Home Econ. 132, will be given by Miss Gertrude Luehning, former head of the cafeteria, on Tuesday and Thursday, 2:10 to 4:00.

This three-unit course was designed especially for college families and limited income groups facing the problems of present day living costs. It will be a laboratory in food preparation and includes such problems as buying for the small home, budgeting, preparation and serving, and a limited food cost accounting. There are no prerequisites, and the course is open to both men and women of upper or lower division.

The course is limited to 30. Persons interested should sign up at the Counseling Office.

FROSH TO TAKE EXAMS SATURDAY

Entrance tests will be given to several hundred incoming freshmen Saturday morning, it was announced this week by Dr. John Cornehlssen, head of the entrance testing program.

Two tests will be given: the Ohio State Aptitude exam and the

CONSUMER CONFERENCE TO BE FEATURED

Economics 1130, the Consumer Conference, will be given August 11-16 and may be audited or taken for one or two units, Hugh C. Baker said yesterday.

The conference or course will consist of a series of meetings and discussions from 2:10 to 4:30 daily. The four major groups of study will be: Buymanship, Financial Management, Businesslike Procedure, and Social Economics for the Consumer. These subjects will be broken down into many sub-topics, some of which will be discussed by guest educators, businessmen, government officials, representatives from the Better Business Bureau, newspapers and advertising agencies. Some of the subtopics are food, textiles, borrowing, budgeting, planning, and units for consumer education in secondary schools.

The four principal leaders of the conference are Dr. Fred Wilhelms; E. R. Frembling, administrator of student affairs; Earle H. Kieselhorst; and Mrs. Ruth Walker, director of cafeterias of Oakland City Schools. Students interested in attending should see Mr. Baker or the registrar.

VETERANS MUST CHECK WITH MINGEL

Veterans planning to attend Post Session must report to the VA training officer, Rm. 119C, as soon as possible. Veterans who signed up for Post Session and who have decided not to attend must also see Mr. Jack Mingel to file interruption notices.

FASHION SHOW THRILLS TEACHERS

Teachers and students of the Education Workshop were entertained yesterday at a fashion show at Frederic Burk Auditorium. The show was presented by the Mademoiselle School of Charm. Miss Armista Scoville, director of the school, was in charge of the show. Commentary was made by Dr. Robert Adams, member of the work shop faculty. Models were from Mademoiselle Charm School, and the clothes worn were from the Bette Frances shop.

Suits and other attire for the classroom were shown as well as the latest in afternoon and evening dress.

Miss Esther Riecks, member of the Mademoiselle School and alumna of State College, assisted in the production and was highly instrumental in making the show possible.

Some of the older teachers present stated that it was one of the most entertaining activities they have experienced. Considerable humor was added to the occasion by Dr. Adams, they said.

NATIONAL FORUM TO FEATURE
FACULTY MEMBER IN ROUND TABLE

Dr. George E. Outland, professor of sociology, will be one of the four speakers on "Town Meeting of the Air" next Thursday at 4 p.m. The forum will be held at the War Memorial Opera House under the auspices of the San Francisco Chronicle. One hundred tickets were obtained for the broadcast by the student body. Fifty will be given to members of the government classes of Dr. Outland and Mr. Lowell Noonan, 20 to the faculty, and the remainder will be given out at the student body office, Hut 4, by Bill Denniss next Wednesday afternoon.

Topic will be "Is the two party system failing?". Dr. Outland and Bartley Crum, eminent S. E. attorney, will claim that it is, and James Roosevelt and Lieutenant Governor Goodwin J. Knight will oppose the issue.
